

GDPR - Policy for processing personal information

Mimerex AB (org.no. 556747-2534) uses the personal information and the information that you voluntarily leave when you register and in further contact with us, as a tool in our recruitment processes. Personal information may be shared with Mimerex AB's clients for us to be able to process your application. Personal information may also be shared with other parties if this is required by law, regulation or by court or authority decision, legal requirements or an ongoing judicial process.

The personal information that is processed is name, phone number, e-mail address, address, birth data as well as information that together or on its own constitutes as personal information.

We process your personal information only to administer recruitment matters as well as for marketing of our offers to you as a candidate. Personal information is stored up to Three (3) years after a completed recruitment process as to be accessible at later recruitment processes where you might be of interest as a candidate.

Your consent according to this policy for personal information applies until you retract your consent or deregister your account. When the consent expires the personal information will be anonymized permanently, unless there follows by law, regulation or by court or authority decision, legal requirements or an ongoing judicial process whereby Mimerex AB may store the information longer than is stated in this policy for personal information.

Once a year you have the right to free of charge get an excerpt of the information stored about you, as well as have the information corrected or deleted. This can be requested by e-mail: info@mimerex.com

All handling of personal information is done in accordance to the Swedish Data Protection Act (PUL), until it is replaced by the EU's General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and equivalent Swedish legislation, as well as recommendations given by the Swedish Data Protection Authority. You can read more about these regulations on the Swedish Data Protection Authority's web page.

If you have complaints regarding our handling of personal information you should turn to the Swedish Data Protection Authority who is the responsible regulators of privacy policy. For other questions regarding the privacy policy at Mimerex AB please send an e-mail to info@mimerex.com
